----- The scripts used to detect the mChiA-ChiC-Fura-2-actin and eGFP-Actin did not require any licensing. The scripts used for the detection of endogenous ChiC-GFP did require the BIC software (BIC License. Available from:). To obtain this license, please apply for an account on GitHub (). The GitHub account "lucaschaub" was created by researchers that work in our group. The application process consists of filling the online form and uploading a valid license agreement via a Google Drive file. License agreement ----- If using the application on a server, the License Agreement has to be uploaded on a web server (to provide a dedicated and secure environment for the software) and a public Github account created. The form for uploading the license agreement is available at . 82157476af
