About This Content

V16 engines are the largest capacity engine configuration available in Automation, with a capacity range of 1.1L - 21.7L. While it is not giving players any direct advantage, it offers a nuanced alternative to V12 engines for very-high-end cars.

Back before Steam Early Access was a thing, we did sell an early version of Automation via our own website. From 2012 to 2014, potential buyers had the choice between base version ($25), and a premium version ($35) of the game for players who wanted to support development a little extra. The latter promised the inclusion of exclusive V16 engines as soon as they are done. Now, after almost a year of V16 exclusivity for those early premium version buyers, we offer the upgrade to anyone who missed out back then and still wants to support us today.

Kind of on the fence with this one.

Yes V16's are amazing and I know this is a 'support the devs thing' Which is fine. But I just would like something else than just one engine config, even if it was something crazy like 16 cylinder boxer etc :D

If it gets something else further down the line, ill recommend it.
